

INCREASE PRODUCTION CAPACITY TO MEET GROWING DEMAND

Over the past four years, Mario Levi has experienced a steady increase in the acquisition of new contracts and customers. However, the productivity levels of their die press system were not sufficient to keep pace with the increase in demand. The team was therefore looking for a solution that would enable them to boost productivity,

Integrating Versalis® into the production process introduced a major change from the die press system Mario Levi had been using. Lectra experts collaborated with the executive team from Mario Levi to organize its processes around the new solution. The Lectra team worked with Mario Levi to understand their operations, analyze their processes, and identify where improvements could be made.

REAPING THE BENEFITS OF CHANGE

With the Versalis in place, Mario Levi is now able to efficiently and quickly manage the variety of products, and especially, the complex production processes that are becoming more commonplace as market demands for flexibility and leather seating increase. "Implementing automatic cutting with Lectra has allowed us to increase
